Good Roads For Maine

The Need of a Settled Policy That Shall Put Our State On a Level With Other States.

That Maine needs some arrangements whereby there may be a fixed annual income for road construction each year, is the opinion of former Governor William T. Haines of Waterville. In an interview with The Courier-Gazette, Governor Haines said:

"Of course you know that I have taken great interest in the improvement of the highways of Maine. I offered the first bill in 1895 providing for a State Highway Commissioner, but this was rejected by the Legislature. Ten years later, in 1905, the same bill was introduced again and passed. From that time forward, especially during my administration as governor, I have worked and talked on the improvement of highways on every occasion."

"Since I have retired from public life, I have felt that the responsibility of this matter was on others; so I have said nothing and I do not know that I have anything to say now. If I had, it would be in commendation of the work as it is being done now, as it has been done for the last four years. Considering our mileage and great State, with its diversified interests in different localities, I think we have gotten along well with this new problem. The farmer is getting over his prejudice against the automobile. The cars which the farmers have purchased very largely are creating a strong sentiment in favor of better roads."

"I am inclined to think that a mill tax would help to settle the questions which are continually arising before the Legislature. What we need is a fixed income such as seems reasonable, spent year after year, and then take advantage of all Federal aid offered. I think the automobile tax will go quite a ways toward this, but it will have to be supplemented by other income, and probably the same mill tax would be the way to do it. We must have more money, both for building and maintenance, every year. The people will demand it and consequently vote for it readily. The question of highways has got beyond the ambitions of the automobilists or the politicians. It is the people's question now. They want better roads and they know they will have to pay for improvements if they get them."

"The thing of most practical importance in my judgment is to extend the State patrol, so that when roads are once properly built, they will be there to last, just as the railroad takes care of its tracks. This, with better construction in many places, such as will meet the demands in every locality, is what I see necessary as a practical solution of better roads."

That good roads are one of the best assets that Maine can have, was the statement made by Hon. Louis B. Goodall of Sanford, Congressman-elect from the First Maine District and treasurer of the famous Goodall mills. Mr. Goodall said:

"I am heartily in favor of continuing the building of good roads in Maine, as I consider them one of the best assets this State can have. Maine being a great vacation State, with good roads it will attract an immense automobile travel here, and these parties also leave a lot of money in the State. If there are no good roads, the automobile parties will seek other States where they do have good roads and the State of Maine with her poor roads will lose this income."

Dr. S. C. Gordon

In a statement to the Statewide Good Roads Committee of Maine, Dr. S. C. Gordon of Portland, one of Maine's oldest and most prominent citizens, in reply to a question as to the best plans for raising funds for future highway construction, said:

"I am sure the plan of a mill tax for the roads of Maine is by far the most feasible one, to establish the trunk lines and others as may be desirable, from time to time. Every taxpayer in the State is compelled to contribute his share to enable the residents of the State to transact their normal business with greater facility and provide freer access to the enormous tourist traffic which comes to the State during the summer season. In this way the tax burden will be better borne and much more improvement made in all roads throughout the entire State. Under efficient superintendence, less money will be wasted and much more will be systematically accomplished."

Ron. A. S. Littlefield

Hon. A. S. Littlefield of Rockland, prominent attorney, in a statement endorsing the mill tax plan, says: "I was present at the meeting at Augusta and fully agree with the general sentiment of the meeting. Particularly did I endorse the position of Governor-elect Carl E. Milliken, that the building of good roads must be continued and provided for in a manner that will fix a settled policy for the State. Also, it seems to me, the concluding remarks of Governor-elect Milliken against the idea of raising money by a bond were appropriate. I endorse the plan and the reasons there stated for it, and these reasons, it does not seem necessary that I should repeat."

COST HUGHES THE ELECTION

Factional Fight in California Between Governor Johnson and Republican Leaders.

A prominent member of the Hughes staff throws new light on the factional fight in California by asserting Gov. Hiram Johnson refused to meet Mr. Hughes when the latter was campaigning there.

When the official returns from California showed that President Wilson had carried the State, the report was circulated that Mr. Hughes lost it because he ignored Gov. Johnson while in San Francisco and refused to see him. Gov. Johnson replied angrily to this charge Saturday by asserting that the Republican "old guard ring," including William H. Crocker, Republican National committeeman, and Francis D. Keeling, former Republican State chairman, defeated Mr. Hughes by creating the impression that the Republican candidate was a reactionary.

Gov. Johnson also denied he had "kissed" Mr. Hughes and called attention to the fact that he urged the candidate's election in all of his speeches throughout the State.

"Hughes did not refuse to greet Gov. Johnson while he was in San Francisco," the Hughes staff member said. "It was the other way around. A message was sent to Gov. Johnson that Mr. Hughes desired to meet him, but Johnson did not respond. I know it is so because I was there at the time."

Whether Gov. Johnson "kissed" the Republican candidate or whether it was because of the attitude taken by Crocker and Keeling, the Republican leaders of California, was agreed unanimously in Republican circles that the factional fight in that State cost the Republican ticket the election. Gov. Johnson, the Progressive leader of the State, and the most powerful political factor in California, was opposed bitterly to Crocker and Keeling, and while both the Johnson and Crocker-Keeling forces were supposed to be united on the Republican Presidential candidate, the partisans of both factions took sides, according to the Republican leaders here, with the result that the Republican-Progressive vote was divided. There is, of course, no doubt that the bulk of the 1912 Progressive swing to the President, but whether this was due to Gov. Johnson or the Crocker-Keeling faction, the Republican leaders at headquarters are not prepared to say.

ALPHONSO ROSS

Was Author of the Clever Verse That Everybody Used To Repeat.

Alphonso Ross, of whom the following is narrated, was a native of Maine, a brother of the late Mrs. Leander Weeks of Rockland, and a Ross Week is his namesake. It is a writer in a recent issue of the Boston Transcript who says:

The good men do is often interred in the bones. The jokes they make frequently live after them, but alas! in what a garbled shape! Once there was in this town a wise and witty man who was named Alphonso Ross. He is dead. He was connected with the old Daily Advertiser. Evidently he is forgotten, and so is the (old) Daily Advertiser. Well, Mr. Ross, though a financial editor, was in the habit of contributing to the funny column of the paper, and in this capacity more than thirty years ago, he wrote a wonderful poem, which ran over a wondrously long time. It must have lodged in the memory of other men than the Nomad's, for in the London Spectator of Oct. 7 of this year of disgrace, the Nomad finds the following sickening attempt to give an account of and reproduce it:

This limerick has, I believe, never been in print—one of the most complete puns on record:
Said the famous Henry Ward Beecher
To a hen, "You're a beautiful creature."
The hen answered, "I beg
You'll accept of an egg."
And thus did the hen reward Beecher.
Angels and ministers of grace defend us! Never in print—and thirty years ago every newspaper in the world printed the verses (which, by the way, never pretended to be a true limerick). And those verses, in their original and beautiful state, were as follows:

Said a great Congregational preacher
To a hen, "You're a beautiful creature."
And the hen, just for that,
Laid two eggs in his hat.
And thus did the hen reward Beecher.

Now that is the American way, as it was the Alphonso Ross way, of printing a verse with a pun in it. The joke unravels itself to the end at the end, in precisely the way to make it worth while. The London Spectator's burlesque was to explain the whole joke beforehand, and then to put the pun in italic letters, or to insert the correct spelling in brackets after the joking arrangement, and thus adapt it to the intelligence of an idiot at the same time that it spoils the whole thing for any person with sense and perception. Such an outrage as that upon a good American joke almost justifies Munsterberg.

BOWLING FOR A CUP

Belfast Takes the First Game, Thanks To Gray's Big Total.

The first in the series of seven matches between Belfast and Rockland bowlers was played in Belfast last Friday night, Belfast winning by a pinfall of 71 over the Lunenburg city boys. Gray of Belfast beat his man, Robinson, by nearly 400 pins, having a total of 520, the highest tally of the game. Barard was high for the visitors, defeating his opposite by 45 pins. The tally:

	Belfast	Rockland
Keene	411
Gray	520
Sumner	423
Staples	377
French	478
Total	2214
Barard		450
Robinson		426
Gay		431
Mayo		434
Speat		385
Total		2126

Tonight's game will take place on Kennedy's alleys in this city. A silver cup will be given to the winning team, four games out of the seven. The total pinfall is what counts. Belfast leads off at present with 71 pins to the good. It is expected that a large number of fans will accompany the team to this city tonight.

Talk of the Town

Sleighs slipping about Rockland streets Nov. 15 made an unusual sight.

Fred A. Blackington, landscape gardener, has been drawn as a member of the petit jury of U. S. District Court, which convenes in Portland, Dec. 12.

A convention of the 9th Masonic District will be held in Masonic Temple, this city, Dec. 12 at 2 p. m. Emil Whitten, D. D. G. M., has charge. Supper will be served at 6:30.

Rockland householders who got caught this week with fly-screens on the windows and storm-windows in the shed think the weather man's actions both summary and wintery.

The Maine Livestock Breeders Association will hold its annual meeting jointly with the Maine Seed Improvement Association, Dec. 4-8 at Augusta City Hall. Tuesday, Dec. 5, forenoon, afternoon and evening has been set apart as Maine Livestock Breeders' Association day.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes has been assigned to preside over the annual session of the East Maine Methodist Conference, which convenes in Bar Harbor, April 4. Bishop Franklin Hamilton will preside over the Maine Conference, which convenes in Westbrook, April 11.

The publishers of the Youth's Companion are pressing, as always at this season, to every subscriber whose subscription is paid for 1917, a calendar for the new year. It is decidedly unusual, and strikingly artistic. The colors are well chosen and richly blended. It was made primarily, however, for actual use, and is well named the Practical Home Calendar.

Bangor Commercial: "Landlord Harry Chapman (formerly of Rockland) was the most popular hotel man in the world with the 150 commercial travelers and friends who were tendered a banquet by him in the Bangor House Friday evening. As evidence of this Mr. Chapman was presented during the evening with a handsome gold watch and a chain with a Masonic charm, showing the great esteem in which these men hold the head of the most famous hotel in the State of Maine."

The school directory for 1916-17, just issued, contains the full program of the year's studies, together with the names of the teachers. Supt. West announces that he will be at his office in the McLean building each school day from 8 to 9. His telephone call there is 324-3, and his telephone call at his summer street residence is 704-17. Regular meetings of the school board are held Thursday at 7:30 o'clock, on or before the 25th of each month. The standing committees of the school board are: Text Books and Course of Study, E. S. Beverage, J. A. Tolman, F. A. Richardson; Teachers, W. A. McLain, B. B. Smith, C. Doherty; estimates and expenditures, C. Doherty, C. S. Beverage, F. A. Richardson; rules and regulations, J. A. Tolman, B. B. Smith, W. A. McLain; safety, B. B. Smith, F. A. Richardson, J. A. Tolman.

Among the employees of the United Shoe Machine Co. of Beverly, Mass., are Herbert Waldron, Maynard Waldron, Roy Bowling of Rockland and Fred Linnell, A. Cogan, Alex Morse of Thomaston. This shop's rating is from 25 to 50 cents an hour, and all the overtime its employees want to work. The night crew works four nights a week: Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoons off. The shop has its own free hospital, with night and day doctors. The factory has an athletic club, baseball, soccer and basketball teams and an 80-yard pond. One of Rockland's boys was picked up on the street near South station in Boston Wednesday by two crooks, who were planning to get his money but they got fooled. For two detectives who were working a case on West Newton street were behind watching the crooks work. When Massachusetts avenue was reached the two crooks were handed to the police.

The Courier-Gazette in its preceding issue touched upon the ten-cent-peticoat-chain-letter fraud with which some Knox county women lately got fooled. When will people learn that the chain letter is in its very essence fraudulent and let it alone? And the worst of 'em all is the prayer chain letter. These frauds come to the newspaper desk every little while—only the other day there was one from Los Gatos, Calif., asking us to write the usual five copies and then send ten cents or more to some alleged down and out newspaper man of that city, whose pitiful and needy case was eloquently depicted. The waste basket immediately got the request, according to our custom, and the following week brought this disclaimer:

Los Gatos, Cal., Nov. 3.
My Dear Sir:—Please pay no further attention to letter, if received by you, in regard to helping newspaper man. Use of chain letter not permitted in mails. I was misinformed. Only five replies to date, so there has practically been no response. Under the circumstances, I am glad. Edgar Williams.

And so we are glad—glad that Mr. Williams found out early the generally reprehensible character of this piece of business.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Old-fashioned poetry, but choicely good.
—Isaac Walton.

November
Yet one smile more, departing, distant sun!
One mellow smile through the soft vapory air,
Ere, o'er the frozen earth, the loud white rain,
Or snows are sifted o'er the meadows bare.
One smile on the brown hills and naked trees,
And the dark rocks whose summer wreaths are cast,
And the blue gentian, flower that, in the breeze,
Bids lonely, of her beautiful race the last.
Yet a few sunny days, in which the bee
Shall murmur by the hedge that strains the way,
The cricket chirp upon the russet leaf,
Yet one rich smile, and we will try to bear
The piercing winter frost, and winds, and dark
—William Cullen Bryant.

Speedy and Easy Riding

There's little comfort in most low priced cars. You can't use their speeds. They jostle you—they ride roughly—they don't hold the road.

The $635 Overland is different. It is not only the speediest of low priced cars—

But you can use the full speed of its powerful motor when you need it.

It has long 42-inch, easy riding, shock absorbing cantilever rear springs. In addition the 75 B Overland is a longer car—104-inch wheelbase. And it has 4-inch tires.

Its smoothness and ease of riding at any speed would do justice to a much larger and heavier car.

Come in and let us demonstrate. That's the best kind of proof.

This advertisement is one of a series designed to effect closer co-operation between the company and the subscribers. There are three parties to a telephone call—the person calling, the person called, and the operator who connects them. The quality of service rendered is determined by the spirit in which all three work together rather than by the individual effort of any one or two of these three persons.

"Line Busy" Reports

A "Line Busy" report is an exasperation to the subscriber. To both the subscriber and the operator, as a rule, it means delay and duplicated effort.

Our operating methods require the operator to "test" the line, in order to find out whether or not it is being used, before making a connection.

"Line Busy" reports are given when the operator has tested the line and

- (1) A person at the called station is already talking on the line, or
- (2) The person called is on a party line and a subscriber at one of the other stations is using the line, or
- (3) When all lines of a private branch exchange subscriber are in use, or
- (4) A subscriber on the called line has passed a toll call and the line is being held awaiting its completion, or
- (5) Through an error by the subscriber in giving, or the operator in repeating, a wrong number is tested and found in use, or
- (6) When there is mechanical trouble which has not yet come to the attention of the Maintenance Department.

"Line Busy" reports are not so frequent on calls to stations served by individual lines. "Line Busy" reports on calls to party lines can be reduced if the joint subscribers to such lines will refrain from unnecessarily long and inconsequential conversation.

Pouring through the snowdrifts on Virel P. They have kept as freshly as though they had not been subjected to a norther and near zero weather.

Early in January the drama "Bar Harbor" is to be presented by Rockland amateurs, for the benefit of Anderson Camp, Sons of Veterans, which, coming June, is to entertain the State encampment. The rehearsals are already in progress, under the direction of Hoss H. McKinney, whose cleverness in amateur theatricals has helped make several home talent plays successful.

A freight wreck near Freeport destroyed Rockland people of their Boston Express Tuesday, and the train scheduled to arrive at 8:25 p. m. did not reach here until nearly four hours later. Hotel Rockland was unable to care for all of the belated passengers, and one of them found shelter over a restaurant, the only other place in that locality which appeared to be open besides the over-crowded hotel.

"Veterans' Night" will be observed at Grand Army hall next Wednesday evening, in connection with the annual reading of Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg. All of the patriotic organizations—Edwin Libby Post and Relief Corps, and Anderson Camp, S. of V., and Auxiliary—will take part, and all patriotic citizens will be welcomed.

The Gettysburg address will be delivered by Dr. F. H. Webster, and there will be other speakers. A musical entertainment and social hour will follow, and there will be refreshments. Henry C. Chitto, Wilbur S. Cross and Hoss H. McKinney comprise the committee of arrangements.

One of the happiest men in Rockland this week is George Roberts, who, on Tuesday night, was presented with a beautiful past master's jewel by the Maine Lodge of Vinalhaven. It was the annual meeting night, and the past masters were assembled for the purpose of conferring the third degree.

Of their intentions toward him Mr. Roberts had not the slightest inkling. A dozen or more of the Rockland brethren, who were in the secret, had planned to be present, but the storm prevented. The jewel was presented by Worshipful Master Mark Smith, who, in a brief review of the Vinalhaven Lodge said that it was largely due to Mr. Roberts' efforts that so many handicaps had been overcome. At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Roberts was also overcome, but a veteran Mason like "Uncle George" is never fazed over, and he made feeling response. On one side of the jewel is the inscription: "1916—Presented by the Brethren of Moses Webster Lodge, No. 143, A. F. & A. M., to the First Master, W. B. George Roberts, P. M., 1887-1, 1873-4, 1887-8." The jewel contains Mr. Roberts' initials hand-monogrammed.

Every week-day morning during the winter a car will leave Rockland for Camden at 5:30. This is to accommodate the men from this city who are working in the Camden shipyard.

Plans for the Hotel Rockland's enlargement are still in the making. Should the bids show the cost to be prohibitive, Manager Donohue has another interesting plan in his shrewd head, but of that "more anon," as the novelists say.

The "Burps" are selling a good many tickets for their annual levee and ball, which will take place in Havenor hall on Thanksgiving night. You always know where to find the N. A. Burpee Hose Co. when there's a fire, and you always know where to find it on Thanksgiving night.

"We forget and are apt to think this week's early snowfall phenomenal," says Supt. Chisholm of the Street Railway. "Two years ago, it being Nov. 20, snow began falling at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. At 10 o'clock that night there were eight inches of damp, heavy snow on the ground, our plows couldn't cope with it and the street railway went out of business until the next day. And our road wasn't bothered again with snow until the following March."

The fourth in the series of mid-week union church services, held at the Congregational church Tuesday evening, called out a good-sized audience, in spite of the severe weather, and everybody was amply repaid by the striking address given by Rev. Leavitt H. Hallock, D. D., of Portland. Dr. Hallock is a brilliant platform man, eloquent, inclusive and witty.

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God," was his text, unfolded with logical reasoning and a practicalness that made their appeal to every shade of mind. Dr. Hallock is a lecturer of high reputation and it has been suggested that he be brought here later in the season to speak upon some of the topics that have won him a place in the lecture arena.

Mrs. Crocker, medium, will be at 28 Elm street, Rockland, the sixth of November, for two weeks, to give readings, diagnose cases and treat the sick. 87-92

Next Tuesday's meetings, under the auspices of the associated churches, are to be held in the Universalist church at 3:30 and 7:30 p. m., with Rev. Asa Mayo Bradley of Portland as the speaker.

These traverse jurors have been drawn for the January term of Supreme Court. Luke A. Spar, Roscoe Staples, Willis I. Ayer, Parker T. Fuller, George E. Gray, Maynard S. Crockett and Thomas Anastasia.

N. Cook Sholes will speak tonight at the Glen Cove Social Center, at 7:15, on "Universal Military Training." Rev. Roderick J. Mooney, D. D., rector of the Episcopal church, will address the same organization on "The Man and the Woman Today."

The concert at the Universalist church the coming Monday evening will be of a merit to attract all music lovers. The Thomaston Concert Band presents a program of high artistic excellence and the soprano and reader will complete a most attractive program.

Next Tuesday is the annual donation day at the Home for Aged Women. For many years it has been the custom to observe this day each year although it has been carried out largely by members of the board of managers and the friends who have been personally invited to contribute. Up to this time little has been done in a public way to interest the citizens generally in making an annual donation but now that attention has been called to the matter we feel sure that everyone will gladly respond, as our citizens always do when asked to contribute to a worthy cause.

The Glen Cove Social Center, in preparation for its increasing patronage, has enlarged its seating capacity by installing 100 new seats, and removing the old-fashioned school desks. At the last meeting both men and women were observed perching on the walls and some found their only resting place eight feet up in the air on top of the tall book case. Many were obliged to stand but no one was heard to say he failed to receive his money's worth. Rev. R. J. Mooney, D. D., and N. Cook Sholes will be the speakers tonight, with extemporaneous speaking by High School students.

"Don't think everything is done and said. Till our daily advertisement you've read."

Here is a big proposition in big overcoats for big men, big values, big variety.

Full back, easy round the arms.

ENFORCEMENT LEGISLATION

Law Makers Must Decide How To Deal
With Recrudescent Sheriffs and County
Attorneys—Don't Blame Governors, Says Ex-Chief Justice.

The Maine Legislature, which will convene on the first Wednesday of next January, will have two important matters as relates to the enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law to grapple with, a resolve providing for a constitutional amendment to give the governor the power to remove sheriffs who fail to enforce the law and the other a bill similar to the so-called Hastings measure which would compel judges to give straight jail sentences in liquor cases. As the law reads now the only way that a governor can reach a sheriff or county attorney who builds the law is through impeachment proceedings by the Legislature. That could apply all right if the Legislature were in session but during the interval the only recourse that the governor has by law is to call a special session of the Legislature which would be expensive.

Should the Legislature resolve for a constitutional amendment giving the governor the right to remove delinquent sheriffs, the governor may call a special election for the people to pass on the question or he may defer the action until the next general election. Should the people accept the amendment, the law would be operative in 30 days after its acceptance by the voters.

Although the Oakes law, so called, has been on the statute books since 1905, yet it has never been placed in operation. The measure is called the Oakes law because of the fact that the bill was introduced in the Legislature by Hon. Henry W. Oakes, Auburn, who in 1905 was a member of the House of Representatives. Some say that the Oakes law has no "teeth" on the ground that grand jurors sitting in a county would not be very anxious to indict their own county attorney or their own sheriff.

The Oakes law is Chapter 41 of the public laws of 1905 and is entitled "An act providing penalties for non-feasance of duty by sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and county attorneys. Section 69 of the law says that any sheriff, deputy sheriff or county attorney who shall wilfully or corruptly refuse or neglect to perform any of the duties required by this section shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1000 or by imprisonment for one year.

This law was amended by the Legislature of 1913 providing that it shall be the duty of the attorney general to take charge of all investigations before the grand jury in case of refusal or neglect of any sheriff, deputy sheriff or county attorney to perform his duty, and in the case of finding an indictment to conduct all subsequent proceedings in court in behalf of the State as prosecuting attorney. In all such prosecutions, the attorney general shall act in place of the county attorney, and is invested with all the rights, powers and privileges of the county attorney with respect to prosecutions.

An act may be presented to the Legislature giving the governor the power to remove county attorneys. This will not require a constitutional amendment as the office of county attorney is a statutory one and not a constitutional one.

The so called Hastings bill which Englewood, Ill.—"While going through the Change of Life I suffered with headaches, nervousness, flashes of heat, and I suffered so much I did not know what I was doing at times. I spent $1900 on doctors and not one did me any good. One day a lady called at my house and said she had been as sick as I was at one time, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her well, so I took it and my life and health as I ever was. I cannot understand why women don't see how much pain and suffering they would escape by taking your medicine. I cannot praise it enough for it saved my life and kept me from the Insane Hospital."—Mrs. E. SHELDON, 5657 S. Halsted St., Englewood, Ill.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best, battled with this case steadily and could not cure me, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Many Ills Due at this Season of the Year," Says the Tanlac Health Expert

Many ill at this time of the year are especially liable at this time of the year are direct results of disordered stomach and deranged digestion, according to the Tanlac health expert.

"In a majority of cases people who suffer from sickness must blame their stomachs," he said. "We must remember that the support of the body comes from the digestive system. When that is at fault, the supply of nutriment needed to help the human machine fails, and what is worse, the food which should have given strength becomes poisonous waste which distresses and endangers the whole body."

"The stomach has been called 'the chemical laboratory of the body.' There the material taken into the body is rendered into blood, bone and muscle for permanent health, vigor and vitality, the waste or unusable portions being properly disposed of by the organs for that purpose. When the stomach performs its duties the body prospers."

"The success of Tanlac as an aid to digestion, assimilation and the functions which dispose of waste matter has been proclaimed by thousands. Tanlac is a vegetable remedy, designed to feed while it heals sick, sore stomachs, and to bring back the digestive system to its normal, natural work. Thus health is restored, increasing energy, ambition and vitality, and giving that feeling of complete well being necessary to the full enjoyment of life by every man and woman."

"With the health and strength that Tanlac gives, people are less subject to disease. Thousands who have taken Tanlac are grateful because it made them well and kept them well."

One of the most interesting cases that has ever come to the Tanlac health expert's attention happened in Portland.

"Why, he's back at work now, and it really seems like a miracle to us and our friends," recently said Mrs. H. J. Levell, of 1 Elmwood Place, Portland, Maine, in speaking of her husband's relief through taking Tanlac. "My husband had a very severe attack of indigestion and was forced to quit work. He was in a very critical condition for two weeks, and we were much alarmed, hardly knowing what would happen to him. The medicine he was taking did not reach his case. He was unable to eat and lost strength rapidly. Two weeks ago, I bought his first bottle of Tanlac for him, and I can hardly tell you how wonderful the results are."

"In my husband's case I am so enthusiastic, because I don't know what might have happened to us if we hadn't found Tanlac when we did."

Then Mrs. Levell spoke of another remarkable recovery she had seen brought about by Tanlac. "I was talking to a lady of our acquaintance last evening who had been in a run-down condition all summer and was scarcely able to put one foot before the other," said Mrs. Levell. "She began taking Tanlac a few weeks ago, and last night she was up dancing."

Tanlac is being explained daily at the Norcross Drug Store, Rockland, for sale in Thomaston by Whitney & Brackett; Camden by E. E. Boynton; Warren by O. R. Robinson; Bangor by C. A. Richards.

was introduced in the Legislature of 1909 by Senator Henry H. Hastings of Oxford county, and which after passing both Houses was vetoed by the governor and which failed of the necessary two-thirds vote for a passage over the governor's veto is entitled "An act in amendment of section one of chapter 42 of the revised statutes relating to sentences in criminal cases," which would compel judges to give straight jail sentences in liquor cases. Fernald said that this bill seeks to deprive our courts of a certain discretionary power in imposing sentence in criminal cases which had existed in principle since the early history of jurisprudence in this State.

"The wise, upright judge has before him all the facts and circumstances in each case, and he should, in my opinion be allowed a certain range of discretion in forming his judgments unless flagrant abuse of that power."

The following letter, written by Hon. Lucius A. Emery, former chief justice of Maine, is published by the Lewiston Journal:

The seems to be a general expectation that Governor-elect Milliken will, as ordered by our State constitution, "take care that the laws be faithfully executed" including laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors. What can he do to meet that expectation?

He cannot enforce any law by arbitrarily arresting and punishing its violators. The enforcement must be by regular proceedings through the courts, which proceedings the Governor, of course cannot and should not personally undertake to conduct. He can only act through subordinates, yet he is not permitted to select any one of them from the attorney general down to the town constable. He cannot remove any such subordinate officer until so requested by the Legislature and so advised by the executive council.

It is said, indeed, that the Governor may ask the Legislature to request the removal of any civil officer deemed by him to be unfaithful or inefficient, and may ask the council to advise it. But was it ever the intention of the people who framed and adopted the constitutional provision for the removal of civil officers on address, that the Governor should appear before the Legislature as prosecuting officer? Was it not clearly the intention that the Legislature should be the mover in the matter and that the Governor should await its action, and then with the council determine whether or not to remove if so requested? Can the Legislature compel removal whatever the opinion of the executive? Is not the judgment of both departments required? Was it supposed that the Governor would prejudice the matter?

The language of the Constitutional provision is that "every person holding any civil office may be removed by the Governor with the advice of the council on the address of both branches of the Legislature." The Governor is authorized, empowered, to remove on address but is not commanded to do so. That the word "may" should not be interpreted as meaning "shall" is evident, I think, from the original provision in the English "Act of Settlement of the Crown," in the year 1701 viz: "Judges' commission shall be made quibus se bene gesserint, and their salaries ascertained and established; but upon the address of both Houses of Parliament it may, by law-fully requested, be removed; may grant of authority but not a command."

But even if the Governor may properly act as prosecutor, and initiate proceedings for the removal of an officer, the process is cumbersome, expensive and unsatisfactory. Not much has been gained by it in the past as applied to executive officers sought to be removed for unfaithfulness or inefficiency. We have an instance where a sheriff was removed on address after much time and expense consumed, and a successor appointed who in turn disappointed the governor and flouted him when reappointed.

In conclusion I submit it will not be just to Gov-elect Milliken to hold him responsible for any failure in the enforcement of the laws. By the same token Gov. Curtis should not be blamed for any failure of enforcement during his administration. He had no power of enforcement and the next governor will have none except such as may be hereafter vested in him. If the people of Maine desire to have all their laws "faithfully executed" throughout the State, they should restore to their governor the appropriate power, the power "with the advice and consent of the council," to appoint and remove (for cause of course) the attorney general, the county attorneys and the sheriffs. Until that is done the laws against the sale of intoxicating liquors and similar laws will not be steadily enforced throughout the State. Until that is done Maine will continue to suffer the reproach she has suffered for more than the half century her prohibitory law has been upon the statute book.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that all you surely can have is beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Took the Hurt Out of Her Back
Physicians report more cases of kidney trouble among women than men. Mrs. Anna Byrd, Tusculum, Ala., writes: "I was down with my back so I could not stand up more than half of the time. Foley Kidney Pills took all of the hurt out of my back. They are the best kidney pills I ever took." Rheumatic pains, swollen ankles, backache, stiff joints, sore muscles, and sleep disturbing bladder ailments indicate disordered kidneys. Foley Kidney Pills act promptly.

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof As This Should Convince Any Rockland Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Rockland adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

John Small, 602 Main street, Rockland, says: "I suffered a great deal from bladder trouble and I was bothered by my kidneys. I was obliged to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions and my back also bothered me, about two years ago, I had a deep-seated pain in the small of my back, and it was so bad at times, I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and got a box at W. H. Kittredge's Drug Store. They certainly brought quick relief and I can't speak too highly of them."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Small had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Patience by weather which was in sharp contrast to the nor'easter of the preceding day, the Universalist fair Wednesday afternoon and evening netted the industrious ladies of that church $500. Mrs. Rose Smith proved a most successful chairman, and counts herself fortunate in having such capable assistants. The chairman of the several departments were: Linen and fabric work, Mrs. E. F. Berry; utility table, Mrs. Carl O'Brien; apron table, Miss Maud Pratt; crabs, Mrs. R. N. McDougall; cake table, Mrs. W. G. Butman; candy table, Miss Mabel Lamb; pastry table, Mrs. Wilbur Cross; flower booth, Miss Lora Thordike; magazine table, Mrs. Lloyd E. Clark; ice cream, Mrs. Frank Payson; dining room, Mrs. J. A. Burpee; kitchen, Mrs. L. F. Chase; cashier at the door, Miss Anne Greenhalgh; cashier for the supper, Miss Flora West; check room, Misses Doris and Marion Sukerforth. During supper Miss Evelyn Gonia gave a pleasing piano program. Mrs. A. T. Thurston had charge of the very pretty decorations, which were of pink, silver and white against a background of spruce trees and pine boughs. The central pillars were wound with sparkling tinsel handsome baskets filled with pine tips and pink chrysanthemums hung from the chandeliers and to the door ways, and all the lights were covered with pink shades. The booths were of white, trimmed with pink chrysanthemums and pine, with the exception of the flower booth, which was entirely banked with green boughs, making an attractive background for the floral display. On the dining tables the decorations were pale pink.

Mrs. George Foster and Mrs. Fred A. Clark will be hostesses of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church when it meets in the chapel parlor next Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Follett left Wednesday for a 10 days' visit in Boston.

Mrs. Harris S. Woodman was at home to about 50 of her friends from 4:30 to 6 Monday afternoon in her home, Mrs. Karl Sturge. Mrs. Ronald McIlroy and Mrs. George Wilson assisted in the dining room—Winthrop item in Kennebec Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar S. Duncan have returned from a week's trip to Boston, Brighton and Winchester, N. H.

Miss Emma Kuhn has returned from Bangor, accompanied by her niece, Miss Mabel Washburn, of South Orono.

Mrs. Frank Perry is at Dr. Wood's hospital for treatment.

Capt. and Mrs. Hiram Smith returned to Matinees Thursday, after spending several days here.

John J. Perry left this morning for Boston. He will be the guest of his brother Standish Perry at the annual football game between Phillips Exeter and Phillips Andover, played Saturday in Andover, Mass.

The Relief Corps Patchwork Club will have work Monday evening, at its meeting with Mrs. Edward Gonia, 9 Suffolk street.

Mrs. Tilden Fifield of Stonington is improving rapidly at the Silsby Hospital.

Fifty members of the Baptist Men's League were out to the monthly meeting Wednesday night, and were so fortunate as to have for their guests Rev. F. S. Leathers, who is about to leave for Brooklyn. He brought a very interesting report of the Billy Sunday meetings in Boston. After supper Hon. A. S. Littlefield told with stereoscopic views and fine word paintings of his trip to the Pacific coast, and especially about the Mission plays of the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Catherine Tobey left this morning for Augusta, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. M. W. Woodman. Capt. Woodman is on an auto trip to Florida.

Mrs. Fred A. Adams of Dorchester, Mass., was recently the guest of Mrs. Walter H. Spear, Beech street.

Boston Man Tells His Experience With "Fruit-a-tives".—Now Made In U.S.A.

MR. JAS. J. ROYALL
S.S., "Boston", Central Wharf.
Boston, Mass., April 26th, 1914.

"For three years, I was troubled with Constipation. At times, the attacks would be very severe, accompanied by Dizziness and Violent Headaches. I took medicine and laxatives the whole time, but as soon as I discontinued the treatment, my bowels would refuse to move. Last October, I went to Montreal and there heard of 'Fruit-a-tives'. I used one box and the results were so pronounced that I bought two dozen boxes. I continued using 'Fruit-a-tives' and noticed a decided improvement. I gradually reduced the dose from three a day to one tablet every three or four days until the twenty-four boxes were finished when my physical condition was perfect". JAS. J. ROYALL.

SOME ELECTION ECHOES

From the Field of Recent Strife, Now Rapidly Settling Down.

Plans for meeting by popular subscriptions the $300,000 deficit which was incurred by the Democratic national campaign committee in its fight to re-elect President Wilson, are proposed by the treasurer of the committee. The proposal calls for an appeal to 2000 cities, each to raise $100, leaving the rest to such individuals as may be willing and able to pay it off.

Because James E. Pincock, one of the four Democratic Presidential electors chosen in Idaho, was also a candidate for the State legislature for Custer county and was elected, Idaho's electoral vote, instead of being four for President Wilson, is likely to stand three for Wilson and one for Hughes it was reported Tuesday. The law disqualifies any Presidential elector who is also the holder of a State position and Pincock's eligibility probably will be tested, political leaders in Idaho say. If he is disqualified the highest Republican elector may cast his vote.

A Senate investigation of alleged misuse of campaign moneys in the Presidential campaign just closed was announced by administration officials Tuesday. It was stated evidence was being collected.

Florida has elected an Independent-Prohibition candidate for governor over the regular Democratic nominee. The southeastern corner of the Solid South has also distinguished itself by electing a Republican to its State Legislature.

The only States which voted on the question of suffrage extension were West Virginia and South Dakota. The majority against giving the women the right to vote in West Virginia was uncommonly large. In South Dakota returns give the victory to the anti-suffragists. New York must vote again on the question next year. There is no doubt about the result.

Hiram W. Johnson, United States senator-elect from California, can keep on being governor of California until December, 1917, if he wants to, according to a statement by Attorney General Webb. The general practice is for a senator-elect to take the oath of office March 4 of the year following the election, but that is not necessary, according to Mr. Webb. He can wait until the following December when Congress convenes if he prefers, unless a special session of Congress is called in the meantime. The governor made no statement as to his intentions.

"I don't understand why it takes them so long to count the vote in those Western States," remarked a Rockland man Friday, and doubtless many others felt the same way about it. But Maine's simple ballot and the ballots used in the Western States are quite different. In Colorado, for instance, the State ballot covers four pages of a country newspaper, and besides the President, the candidates to be elected included judges of the Supreme court, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of State, regents of the University of Colorado, State superintendent of public instruction, district attorney, State senator, representatives, county judge, county clerk and recorder, sheriff, county treasurer, county superintendent of schools, county surveyor, county coroner, county commissioner, 29 justices of the peace, over 50 constables and then seven referendum measures had to be voted on. In all the voter has to make over half a hundred crosses on his ballot. The ballot counting is of course a very slow process. In New York the ballot was nine feet long.

HAPPENED IN ROCKLAND

Fair Young Salesman Obligated To Appear in Abbreviated Stockings.

One of the bright and able salesmen who visit this city placing orders was in Rockland the other night. This young lady on her short trips over the State, generally travels with the least personal baggage possible and on this trip had with her only one pair of silk stockings and was wearing those on her feet.

It was her custom to wash the hosiery before retiring and drying them on the radiator, but on this particular night, on retiring to her room, she found no heat in the radiator, or insufficient warmth to dry the hose, so she wrung them out and proceeded to drape them over the electric light. The dampness in the silk made the stockings cling to the wires on pinning them to dry and the current of electricity was short-circuited, resulting in an explosion and a blaze and when the excitement was over she had instead of full hosiery with graceful lines a pair of Little Lord Fauntleroy hose.—Bath Times.

NAUGHTY NEW HARBORITES

Fish Warden Charles Sherman's $300 motor boat was found adrift, about 200 yards from the wharf where she had been tied Sunday morning. Although a heavy wind prevailed during the early part of Saturday night, there was every indication to show that the craft had been cut away with a knife. This is the second time since the great campaign against the illicit short lobster traffic began, that Warden Sherman's boat has been found adrift.

GERMANS INVENT INK

"War ink" is the latest invention to supply an existing need in Germany. The minister of education announces the invention of a fluid highly adaptable to school work, which does not penetrate loosely woven paper not blot as ordinary ink does, and which within a short time will be ready for introduction into all public schools. The chief advantage of the new ink is that it enables pupils to use cheaper paper for the exercise and makes them independent of the glazed papers that ordinarily take ink successfully.

SONG BY WARREN GIRL

The Lawrence (Mass.) Tribune of Nov. 7 contained an account of the city's welcome home to the soldier boys, who left four months ago for Mexico border duty. In connection with this account the Tribune printed the following song, written by Florence H. Hanley, Miss Hanley, who is a native of Warren, has many friends in Rockland, as she was located here a few years ago as stenographer and bookkeeper for the late L. F. Starrett and others. Miss Hanley is a successful song writer and has published a number of popular songs:

COMPANY L AND COMPANY F
We are marching home from Mexico,
We are from the land where cactus grow,
We pitched our tents where sandstorms blow
And stopped the fight with Mexico.

Chorus
Cheer, boys, cheer, as we go;
We are marching home from Mexico.
Our mothers cry with joy you know:
"Just see my boy from Mexico."
We are marching home from Mexico;
Hear the fife and bugles blow.
We went down there to down the foe
And stopped the fight with Mexico.
We did our duty, that was all,
And answered to our country's call.
We are ready now if called to go
Again to fight with Mexico.
